

Great and Meaningful Quotes

“The man who would exchange liberty for security deserves neither liberty nor security”
— Benjamin Franklin

“Civilisation is a pyramid scheme. Tribalism is life.”
— Tyler Jordan

“Reality is merely an illusion, albeit a very persistent one.”
— Albert Einstein

“In searching for the truth, be ready to come up against the unexpected, because truth is difficult to find and, once found, is astonishing.”
— Heraclitus

“An answer is a stretch of road you’ve left behind you. Only a question can point forward.”
— Jostein Gaardner

“There are more people prepared to die for their ideals than there are people willing to live for them.”
— Hermann Hesse

“Everyday Reality is often little better than a Hell of quality; Paradise, on the other hand, is not a Hell of quality, but a Reality of equality.”
— Cesidio Tallini

“Intelligence is invisible to the man who has none.”
— Arthur Schopenhauer

“We are constantly faced with a series of great opportunities brilliantly disguised as insoluble problems.”
— John W. Gardner

“Great Spirit, keep me from judging a man before I have walked one mile in his shoes.”
— Apache warrior

“Research is what I’m doing when I don’t know what I’m doing.”
— Werner Von Braun

“He who has never made a mistake has never discovered anything.”
— Samuel Smiles

“If you tell the truth you’ll never have to remember anything.”
— Mark Twain

“We are not human beings having a spiritual experience. We are spiritual beings having a human experience.”
— Teilhard de Chardin

“There is no such thing as men who happen to be Gods. There are only Gods who happen to be men.”

— Cesidio Tallini

“Arise, transcend thyself. Thou art man and the whole nature of man is to become more than himself.”

— Sri Aurobindo

“My teacher always said, ‘Alberto, we are here not only to grow corn but to grow gods.’”

— Alberto Villoldo

“To doubt everything or to believe everything are two equally convenient solutions; both dispense with the necessity of reflection.”

— H. Poincare

“It is almost an absurd prejudice to suppose that existence can only be physical. As a matter of fact, the only form of existence of which we have immediate knowledge is psychic. We might as well say, on the contrary, that physical existence is a mere inference, since we know of matter only in so far as we perceive psychic images mediated by the senses.”

— Dr. Carl Jung

“The greatest skeptic concerning paranormal phenomena is invariably the man who knows the least about them.”

— H.H. Price

“I have seen UFOs twice so far in my life, and I thought that was very unusual. Then I read on the Internet the sincere testimony of a man who has seen UFOs thrice. . .”

— Cesidio Tallini

“Over two decades ago, a team of physicists made a startling discovery: subatomic particles communicate instantaneously over vast distances. This discovery, though it reinforces the concepts of quantum non-locality and quantum interconnectedness, raises serious questions about the nature of reality by introducing the possibility of faster than light speeds. Physicist David Bohm purposed the solution to faster than light signaling between particles by suggesting the holographic ‘whole in every part’ model for reality.”

— Kim Falconer

“I think it is safe to say that no one understands quantum mechanics.”

— Richard Feynman

“The Bible says that Adam and Eve were put in charge of every living creature on earth. This means that human beings are actually in charge of all life on earth, stewards of all life. It is a little like being the banker of other peoples’ money: if you’re the banker, you cannot be the bank robber. Yet most people on earth today behave like bank robbers, rather than like bankers of nature. They have taken up the opposite profession to the one the Gods gave them.”

— Cesidio Tallini

“The future comes to us a lot sooner than it actually happens.”

— R. M. Rilke

“Only dead fish always follow the current.”

— Linda Ellerbee

“Money is like manure: it’s no good if you don’t spread it around.”

— Francis Bacon

“Do you have anything on economics?” a man asks walking into a bookshop. “Down there,” replies the assistant. “Beyond science fiction.”

— Anonymous

“Money comes and goes, people are your real wealth.”

— Alessandro Riello (entrepreneur)

“If man is a creature of nature, then what is he doing in laboratories modifying the very same nature he’s a product of? If man is a product of the natural world, then why does he often behave like a contradiction of the same?”

— Cesidio Tallini

“The fewer our needs, the closer we resemble the Gods.”

— Socrates
